Learning More About the Virtues Project

What is The Virtues Project? The Virtues Project was founded in 1991 by Linda Kavelin Popov, Dr. Dan Popov, and the late John Kaveline. It is a global grass roots initiative to inspire the practice of virtues in all aspects of life; it has inspired and mobilized thousands of families, educators, leaders, and employees to commit acts of service and generosity, to heal violence with virtues, and to create safe and caring communities.

What's the difference between virtues and values? Values are what we value and care about. They could be anything. We may value getting rich and famous, we may value power over others, but that doesn't mean we will have good character. Values are culture-specific because what some families or cultures value, others don't. Virtues are much more elemental than values. While values are culture-specific, virtues are universally valued to all cultures. Virtues are the essence of who we are; it's what's good about us. It's our inner quality of character, which sometimes is there waiting to be awakened. They are the content of our character and the basis of genuine happiness.

Why teach virtues? Many teachers and administrators are finding that applying the strategies of The Virtues Project is transforming the culture in their schools by helping them to create a total environment of caring and respect. They have replaced discouragement with empowerment, having discovered that words such as "lazy" "retarded" "stupid" "unacceptable" were literally demoralizing and dis-courage-ing their students. When they filled their classrooms with encouraging words, such as "helpful", "excellent", "compassionate", self-disciplined", "integrity", and "kind", they found that these behaviors flourished.

How has the Virtues Project continued to be so successful? Its success is credited to the teaching and application of their Five Strategies. They are the signature contribution of The Virtues Project. These strategies are important because they help us to live more reverent, purposeful lives, to raise children of compassion and idealism, and create a culture of character in our families, schools, and workplaces. Each of the five strategies outlined below has been or will be thoroughly discussed in the upcoming months:

1. Speak the Language of Virtues
2. Recognize Teachable Moments
3. Set Clear Boundaries
4. Honor the Spirit
5. Offer Companionship

What is Recognize Teachable Moments? This is a continuation from December 2015 Virtues Project. Haim Ginott said, "In all situations, it is my response that decides whether a crisis will be escalated or de-escalated and a child (person) humanized or de-humanized." It is important to turn stumbling blocks into stepping stones, by taking responsibility to clear up mistakes, by being open to learning from challenges, and by replacing shaming with naming virtues.

ACT with TACT is very useful in giving feedback to children and adults, in addressing goals or behaviors. It is a tool used by managers, administrators, teachers, parents to give performance feedback to employees, students, and children. In doing this, you are making a “positivity sandwich”. You are using the power of Virtues Language.

*Always remember that humility is the goal, NOT humiliation.
NEVER use it to be sarcastic and / or degrade someone.*

ACT with TACT (Positivity Sandwich):

1. Acknowledge 2. Correct 3. Thank

1. Tell the individual about qualities and behaviors in them that you APPRECIATE, which is called naming their STRENGTH VIRTUES.

For example:

I honor your drive of perseverance and determination that you possess in completing your assignments, especially as we are short staff.

2. Tell the person what you feel would be helpful to CHANGE or CORRECT, which is called naming their GROWTH VIRTUES.

For example:

I am encouraging you to be purposeful in ensuring your work is neat and with minimal errors.

3. Save some of the best for last by THANKSGIVING them for what you most appreciate. End on a positive note!

For example:

Your diligence in completing your tasks are commendable and appreciated. It is a joy working with you.

PUTTING THE POSITIVITY SANDWICH TOGETHER

I honor your drive of perseverance and determination that you possess in completing your assignments, especially as we are short staff. I am encouraging you to be purposeful in ensuring your work is neat and with minimal errors. Your diligence in completing your tasks is commendable and appreciated. It is a joy working with you.

PERSEVERANCE

Perseverance is the will to carry on. Once we discern our true direction, we stay the course for however long it takes, regardless of obstacles that arise. When creativity inspires us, we do the work required to bring it to fruition. We patiently pursue our goals, remaining steadfast and focused. We persist with a task until it is completed. People can trust us to finish what we start. When our relationships are tested, we have the commitment to work things through. We are determined to succeed.

“Just don’t give up trying to do what you really want to do.
Where there’s love and inspiration, I don’t think you can go wrong.”

Ella Fitzgerald

FOWL-COCK AND THE DRUMMER COCKROACH

One time there was a man who built a new house. When the house was completed, he furnished it with the best furniture money could buy. But to his great surprise, when he decided to go and live in his house he heard something or someone beating a big drum in his house. He couldn't find out what it was, so he made a bargain with Lizard who said to him, "Yes, I will chase away whatever is beating that drum inside the house, but you must give me a big bag of flies." The man agreed, but Lizard didn't keep his bargain. Instead he ate the flies without removing whatever it was that drummed in the house.

The man then went to Fowl-Cock. He said, "Fowl-Cock, I have just built a house and furnished it, but I cannot live in it because there is something in there beating a gomme drum. I need someone to chase away whatever it is in there. Can you do it?"

"You have come to the right person, Mister," Fowl-Cock answered. "I can do it, but you will have to give me a sack of meal." Since the man was desperate, he agreed.

Fowl-Cock approached the house and heard the drumming, "bidi-boom, bidi-boom, bidi, boom, boom, boom, boom." He entered and followed the sound and found a large drummer cockroach in the corner. Fowl-Cock stretched his neck and picked it up and took it outside. The drumming stopped. The man gave Fowl-Cock his cornmeal, and, in addition, Fowl-Cock swallowed the cockroach. Ever since that day, fowls eat cockroaches and sometimes even lizards, since this was Lizard's punishment for not keeping his bargain.

DETERMINATION

Determination is the power of intent that drives our dreams. It is the strength of will to act with resolve. We focus our energy on a purpose and persevere until we meet our goal. Determination is the commitment to follow through, until we accomplish our purpose. We care about something so much that even when difficulties arise, and things don't come easy, we keep on keeping on. If one path doesn't work, we try another way. We don't allow ourselves to get distracted or to go off track. We complete the tasks we choose to do.

With determination we will succeed.

“The difference between determination and stubbornness is that one comes from a strong will and the other from a strong won't.”

BROO NANSI AND BROO MONKEY'S DAUGHTER

Broo Monkey had a beautiful daughter whom Nansi wanted to marry. However, Monkey did not think that Nansi was good enough for his daughter. He tried to think of a way to prevent the marriage and at last took the problem to Ground Lizard.

"Ground Lizard," he said, "Listen to this. Nansi wants to marry my daughter, but as you know he is a scoundrel and not on the same social level with my daughter. I don't want her to marry him."

"How are you going to stop him?" Lizard inquired. Monkey looked crestfallen and ashamed.

"That is what I want you to help me with. Think of a way to stop Nansi from marrying my daughter." Well, Ground Lizard is known to be a pretty smart fellow. So he thought awhile and told Monkey:

"I will tell you what to do. Give your daughter a very difficult name and announce that the man who guesses her name will be the man to marry her."

Monkey laughed. He loved the idea. But he was soon sad again. He could not think of a difficult enough name to give his daughter. He appealed to Lizard again:

"But what kind of name could I give my daughter that Nansi can't guess?"

Lizard thought again and said, "How about calling her: Nennen-Kennen-with-a-turned-down-gown. Nansi will never guess that."

Monkey was overjoyed. He said, "Yes, that is what I will call her: Nennen-Kennen-with-a-turned-down-gown."

But Ground Lizard was Nansi's friend. And the first thing he did was to tell Nansi the girl's name. Nansi came now to marry the girl and Monkey said:

"Broo Nansi you can marry my daughter if you can guess her name."

Nansi pretended at first that he did not know her name. He said, "Is it Mak-meh Annie?"

"No."

"Is it Clothilda-Louise?"

"No," Monkey crowed.

"Well, then, it must be Nennen-Kennen-with-a-turned-down-gown."

Monkey was so surprised and furious that he fell off his chair. But he had to keep his word. Nansi had guessed his daughter's name and so he married her.

Pretty soon Nansi and his wife had a baby. One day his wife had to go to wash and left him to put the baby to bed. As soon as she had turned her back, Nansi began to sing:

Hush me baby! Hush me baby!

I got your mama because I was clever.

His wife however heard him singing and turned back. "What are you singing?" she asked.

Nansi replied, "Nothing. I am only singing:

Hush me baby! Hush me baby!

I got your mama because I was clever."

Monkey who had just come into the yard heard this and he said, "Oh, that's how you got my daughter!" And he grabbed the baby away from Nansi and killed Nansi. But as he killed Nansi, the baby fell out of his arms dead.

So the old people say never kill a spider or whatever you are holding in your hand will be sure to break.

DILIGENCE

Diligence is doing what needs to be done with care, concentration, and single-pointed attention. It springs from our desire for excellence. When we work with diligence, we give our absolute best. We are artisans, crafting whatever we create with love. We work meticulously in alignment with our purpose. Diligence is needed in tending our relationships. We choose them with discernment, then give them our full commitment, joy, love, and excellence to keep them strong and alive. Diligence is deeply satisfying to our souls.

BROO TUKUMA AND THE HURRICANE WARNING

Broo Nansi once made a large paper sign. He went wandering about telling the folks that the king had told him to tell them that a hurricane was coming. He told Tukuma also that a hurricane was coming. He told Tukuma that the people should tie themselves to a huge tree that the wind could not blow down. So Tukuma told Nansi to tie him to a great tree so that when the wind blew his house away, he would be safe.

So Nansi tied Broo Tukuma to a huge tree. Then he took a whip and beat Tukuma to his heart's content.

When Tukuma felt the blows, he cried out, "Broo! Enough! Enough!"

Nansi replied, "When a white man is beating a black man, can the black man tell him 'Enough?'" After beating Tukuma to his satisfaction, Nansi went his way leaving him tied to the tree.

Broo Rabbit came by. Broo Tukuma asked him to let him loose. Broo Rabbit let him go. Tukuma took him to his house and gave him something to eat. When Rabbit finished eating he went away.

Tukuma wanted to catch Nansi to return the beating, but Broo Nansi was too clever. Broo Rabbit plotted with Broo Goat to help him find Broo Nansi. But while Broo Goat tried to trap Nansi, he was being trapped. Broo Nansi killed him and ate him. But Broo Rabbit did not attempt to trap Nansi. When they pursued him, Nansi climbed into a tall tree. Nansi held a sack of pepper and threw some of it into Rabbit's eyes. By the time Rabbit washed his eyes clean, Broo Nansi escaped.

PURPOSEFULNESS

Purposefulness is being aware that each of us is here for a reason. We value our lives by discovering the part we are uniquely meant to play. We discern our intention and focus on it mindfully. We visualize it happening. We set goals and achieve them step by step, resisting distractions. We give each task single-minded concentration and excellence. We invest our full enthusiasm into even the simplest job. In the flow of our lives, there are many turns and unexpected events. Within it all, there are lessons to be learned and gifts to receive. Purposefulness is trusting the journey.

“Our calling is where our deepest gladness and the world’s hunger meet.”

Frederick Buechner

The Practice of Purposefulness

... I practice Purposefulness when I ...

Discern my true calling
Create a clear vision for this time in my life
Set goals for achieving my purpose
Concentrate fully on what I am doing
Enjoy giving excellence to each task
Find the opportunity in every experience

Affirmation

I am purposeful. I am clear about what I am doing and why. I stay focused on my goals.
I know I can accomplish great things.

BROO TURKEY, BROO DUCK, AND BROO FOWL-COCK

Duck and Turkey made a bargain to kill Fowl-Cock. Everytime the farmer's wife would throw feed to them, Fowl-Cock, because he was so greedy, would eat all of it up quickly. If either of the other scratched up a delicacy, Fowl-Cock was there to take it away from him. Finally, the other two could stand it no longer and they made up their minds to kill Fowl-Cock.

This day, when the farmer's wife fed them, Turkey and Duck pretended to quarrel. As they strutted around and screamed and gobbled and quacked, Fowl-Cock watched them. Eventually, he stepped in.

"What are you two quarreling about?" he asked.

But there was no proper answer. Instead, Turkey jumped on Fowl-Cock and began to berate him for his greedy ways.

Fowl-Cock retorted, "You are acting like a woman."

Turkey screamed, "You are so greedy, you will eat anything."

The quarrel went on and on. Finally, Duck came in between them. When Fowl-Cock made a swipe at Duck, he said, "Yes, that is what I want you to do. I've got you now. I am going to kill you because you eat too much and we can't get anything to eat."

The argument became heated, and Duck fell on Fowl-Cock and held his neck and put it under his wing. When Fowl-Cock fell down, Duck had his neck under his wing, doing his best to break it. Fowl-Cock screamed but Duck wouldn't let him go until he broke his neck.

When Turkey saw him lying there on the ground rooting around, he said, "Now, we will get enough to eat." In the meantime, Fowl-Cock paid for his greediness with his life.

Justice

Justice is being fair in all that we do. We continually look for the truth, not bowing to others' judgments or perceptions. We do not backbite. We clear up problems face to face. We make agreements that benefit everyone equally. When we commit a wrong, we are honest in correcting it and making amends. If someone is hurting us, it is just to stop them. It is never just for strong people to hurt weaker people. With justice, we protect everyone's rights. Sometimes when we stand for justice, we stand alone.

BROO NANSI AND BROO LION AND THE COW

One time, Broo Nansi and Broo Lion had farms next to each other. Now Broo Nansi was poor and had only one cow which used to supply his family with milk, cheese, and butter. Broo Lion was rich and had several cows. But like many rich people, the more Broo Lion had, the more he wanted, and it was his aim in life to rob Broo Nansi of his cow.

One night, Broo Lion crept over to Broo Nansi's farm, over to the cow, killed her, salted the meat, and put it in his meathouse. The skin he tacked up on a large silk-cotton tree to dry. Next morning, Broo Nansi awoke and went to milk his cow. There was no cow to be seen. Broo Nansi looked high and low and called his cow, but to no avail. Finally, he wandered past Broo Lion's farm and saw his cow skin on the silk-cotton tree. He knew now what had happened to the cow, but he dared not say anything. After all, Broo Lion was bigger and stronger than he. But he thought and thought what he might do to get even.

In the meantime, Broo Lion came clumping over to Broo Nansi's farm. "Morning Broo. I hear that you have lost your cow."

"It's true, Broo. I have no idea where the animal has gone. Only thing I can think of is that she might have gone into the ground."

"Gone into the ground! Ha-Ha!" Broo Lion roared with laughter. He went over the whole neighborhood and told everybody how stupid Nansi was because he said his cow might have gone into the ground.

That night, Broo Nansi stole over to Broo Lion's farm, picked out the fattest cow and drove her over to his own farm. There he and his sons butchered the cow, salted the meat, and hid it. He then tacked the cow skin to a mango tree in his yard. Broo Lion's cow tail he took and buried some distance from the two farms.

In the morning, Lion raised such a hullabaloo about his missing cow that the "ruction" was heard for miles around. He came stamping into Nansi's yard.

"Broo Nansi, I have lost my best cow and can't find her anywhere. You had better pray that I don't find her over here!"

"Find her over here? Why Broo Lion, do you think that I am crazy? Why should I want to take your cow? As you see, I have no cow. My only cow went into the ground as I have told you. Maybe yours did the same!"

"Went into the ground! Nonsense! That cow was stolen and I intend to find her."

"I will help you look, Broo Lion!" So they looked and looked. Then Broo Nansi went over to the place where he had hidden the cow tail. He shouted: "Here Broo Lion, I have found your cow. But hurry! She is disappearing into the ground."

Broo Lion came rushing up to find Broo Nansi holding on to the cow tail for dear life.

"Grab hold, Broo Lion, before she disappears completely." Broo Lion put his mighty strength to work and held onto the cow's tail.

"Pull, Broo Lion, pull!" Broo Nansi shouted. Lion pulled with all his might. The tail came flying out of the ground.

"Now look at what you have done, Broo!" Nansi lamented. "You pulled so hard that you tore off the cow tail and now the cow has gone forever into the ground, just like mine did."

Broo Lion was furious. But there was no help for it. He had torn the tail himself and so the fault was his. That night Broo Nansi and his sons feasted on the meat which tasted sweeter than ever because Nansi had had his revenge.
